STRATEGY OVERVIEW

- Gabelli Pet Parents' (the "Fund") invests primarily in companies that actively participate in Companion Animal Food, Therapeutics, Diagnostics, Product Distribution, and Related Services.

PORTFOLIO UPDATE

The Gabelli Pet Parents Fund (PETZX) was down 5.3% in Q4 2024, while the FactSet Pet Care Index decreased 8.1% in the same period.

While pet related stocks pulled back in Q4, our outlook on the industry remains positive. We anticipate 5-6% growth in the pet economy in 2025, bringing the market to $380 billion. This will largely be through growth in pet healthcare, premium nutrition, and innovative pet technologies.

Chewy, Inc. (CHWY) is a leading e-commerce platform for pet food, supplies, and pharmaceuticals, serving over 20 million active customers. Net customer adds in 3Q of 158k exceeded expectations and we expect this trend to continue. Chewy has shifted marketing spending in recent quarters to higher return segments rather than quick-hit spend which we are encouraged by. We have a PMV for Chewy of $39.

Amazon.com, Inc. (AMZN) is a leading e-commerce and cloud computing company that has become a significant player in the pet care industry. The company's strategic focus on pet consumables, including food, healthcare products, and litter, positions it well to capture a growing share of the pet care market. Amazon's proprietary brand of pet supplies, labeled under Amazon Basics, increased performance by 43.3% last year, with total revenues of 204.7 million.

The pet industry's ability to influence consumer spending patterns remains strong, with growing demand for high-quality nutrition, innovative care products, and specialized services. As this trend persists, we foresee continued opportunities for growth and value creation within the pet care ecosystem.

U.S. PET EXPENDITURES 2012-2021

- 91 million households have a companion dog or cat vs. 42 million households with a child under 25 years of age.
- Millennials are the largest pet-owning generation: with 32% owning pets.
- Pet Ownership is steadily growing across the globe. Roughly 70% of U.S. households have a pet.

Returns represent past performance and do not guarantee future results. Due to market volatility, current performance may be lower or higher than the performance data quoted. Total return and average annual returns are historical and reflect changes in share price, reinvestment of dividends and capital gains and are net of expenses. Following the close of business on March 31, 2019, the Fund acquired all of the assets, subject to liabilities, of the Gabelli Pet Parents' NextShares (the "Predecessor Fund") through a tax-free reorganization. The Fund is newly created from the reorganization of the Gabelli Pet Parents' Nextshares, which has the same investment objective and substantially similar investment strategies and policies as the Predecessor Fund.

The Fund imposes a 2% redemption fee on shares sold or exchanged in seven days or less after the date of purchase. The Fund invests a significant portion of its assets in companies in the companion pet industry, and, as a result, the value of the Fund's shares is more susceptible to factors affecting those particular types of companies and that industry, including governmental regulation, a greater price volatility than the overall market, rapid obsolescence of products and services, intense competition, and strong market reactions to pet industry developments. As a consequence of its concentration policy, the Fund's investments may be subject to greater risk and market fluctuation than a fund that has securities representing a broader range of alternatives.

Fund performance is sensitive to stock market volatility. Investments in foreign instruments or currencies can involve greater risk and volatility than U.S. investments because of adverse market, economic, political, regulatory, geopolitical or other conditions. No fund is a complete investment program, and you may lose money investing in a fund, including loss of principal. The Fund may engage in other investment practices that may involve additional risks, and you should review the Fund's prospectus for a complete description.
